An Operation Arrowman

This past summer I served on Operation Arrow, Service Corps, for the 2017 National Scout Jamboree. This High Adventure opportunity allowed me to experience the Jamboree while providing cheerful service to serve others. As a chapter, we were able to serve at a variety of areas including: Rock Climbing, BMX/Skate Park, Ushering shows, and much more. All of which included "Service with a Smile" to enhance scouts' Jamboree experience. Although providing cheerful service was our main goal, Service Corps members were also able to enjoy the Jamboree during their time off just like normal scouts in a troop or crew!

The Total Eclipse is Here!

“On Aug. 21, 2017, America will fall under the path of a total solar eclipse.

The so-called Great American Total Solar Eclipse will darken skies all the way from Oregon to South Carolina, along a stretch of land about 70 miles (113 kilometers) wide. People who descend upon this "path of totality" for the big event are in for an unforgettable experience."

- Taken from Space.com

Remember, while the eclipse is super cool, NEVER look at the sun without eye protection!

The Total Eclipse is Here Cont.

Make sure to get your stylish eclipse glasses, and I’ll see you outside on the 21st.

Here’s the path of the total eclipse.

If eclipse glasses are not in your budget or you want to try a fun project, check out the BSA’s Instagram for a fun and simple design on a solar viewing box!

The Cog Online is Now LIVE!

The Cog has been a huge part of my life for quite awhile now, and I hope I can make it easier to get the Cog into your life. Now, as well as the website, the Cog is on GOOGLE DRIVE! If you have no idea what google drive is, it is a program that makes it so I can share my documents with the world, or in my case with anyone with the correct link. You can access the link from the Wiatava website, or this Cog article.

On another note, you can use the drive to send me articles as well as message me with any concerns or ideas.

Thanks again for being so supportive of the Cog and I can’t wait for the next two quarters!
